

Andalusia has lots of different wild animals. These include the following:

Iberian emerald lizard

minnowcarp

fox

spoonbill

pink flamingo

Iberian painted frog

Iberian lynx

We can classify animals according to specific characteristics.

1 Look at the photos of the animals below, and their characteristics. Draw them in your notebook, and label the drawings with the relevant characteristics.

It has feathers.

It has legs.

humming bird

It has a beak.

It has wings.

It has fins.

trout

It has scales.

2 Look at the animals below. In your notebook, group them according to their characteristics. Some animals belong in more than one group.

lynx – mosquito – fox – flamingo – trout – Iberian emerald lizard

It has wings.

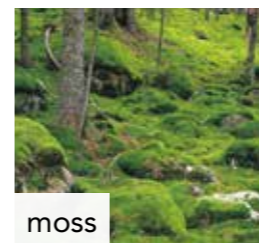

It has fins.

It has hair.

It has legs.

It has scales.

Andalusia also has a lot of different vegetation. There are meadows (fields) and forests. The Mediterranean forest is very common. It has lots of trees that do not lose their leaves (evergreens). Trees that lose their leaves are called deciduous trees.

moss

fern

oak

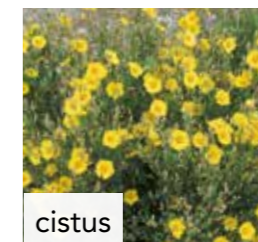

pine

cypress

eucalyptus

cistus

rosemary

3 In your notebook, classify the trees as evergreen or deciduous.

oak

pine

cypress

eucalyptus

evergreen

dedicuous